The Rollins Sandspur

You are not too old to enjoy reading your college paper. The Sandspur is bigger and better than ever; it is well edited and full of interesting student news; it is well printed at your own college press, and comes out every Friday as regularly as Dr. Hyde used to go to sleep in Caesar class.

Pin a memorandum with your name and address to a check for $3.00 and mail to Robert Colville, Circulation Manager, Winter Park, for a full college year's subscription (nine months) extending into next year, not expiring with the commencement number this year; or take advantage of our

Special Offer to Alumni

Send $1.00, mentioning the Alumni Record, and we will send you the Sandspur for the balance of the college year. You will want to read regularly the "Spurs," "College Comment," "Radio News," "Conservatory Notes," "The Prof's Corner," "Gridgraphs," "Tar and Feathers," and the other snappy departments, besides the regular weekly news and the really serious editorials. Do it now. You will never regret it.

WILL YOU RESPOND?

The Alumni Record begins with this issue its first number in Volume III. Prior to this date the publication has been something of an experiment, but from this date there must be no uncertainty if it is to fulfill the object for which it was founded. The new year, 1924, must bring to the business management an appreciable response in memberships. Up to the present time, the average response has not been encouraging. While it is believed that this is due largely to lack of attention to details and not through indifference, nevertheless such conditions will not make it possible to finance the publication on a satisfactory basis. Please send in your membership fee of $2 at once so that the Record may not be hampered in the work it has set out to do.

FINANCIAL STUDIES

Too strong emphasis cannot be laid on the studies in college finance which are being conducted by the college administration through the college page on the back of this magazine. In order to assist the college intelligently it is necessary for the alumni to be familiar with the present status of the endowment and general financial outlook.

DR. BURTON'S COMING

One of the greatest literary men of the country is spending the month of January on the Rollins campus lecturing in the English Department. Dr. Richard Burton, for many years head of the Department of English Literature, University of Minnesota, an author of high rank and one of the foremost dramatic critics of the day, is this distinguished personage. That Rollins boys and girls are to come into intimate contact with him in the study of English is an advantage of which the alumni will be justly proud. Wherever there is an understanding of the highest in English literature, there is known the work which this great man is doing.

THE HOMECOMING

Founders' Week in February of each year is the time set aside by the college for all former students and alumni to return for a brief visit in order to renew the old ties. It is the annual "homecoming" for Rollins people, and from year to year has been gaining in strength. The dates announced for 1924 are Feb. 20-24, inclusive, and a detailed program of the events scheduled will be found on the page devoted to the college calendar. One entire day has been placed at the disposal of the Alumni Association and in view of its expanded activities this year's annual meeting should be well attended and strongly supported. A limited number of alumni can be accommodated on the campus. Reservations, whether on the campus or at the Winter Park or Orlando hotels, should be made considerably in advance because of the crowded conditions during the month of February.

On the Shores of Lake Virginia

(Events and news of the Campus)

CHRISTMAS VESPERS

The annual Christmas vesper service was held in Knowles Hall, Dec. 16, at four in the afternoon. President Sprague made the address, and used as his subject, "Race Preparation for Christ's Coming." Appropriate musical programs were rendered by the glee clubs.

CO-EDS TAKE UP WAR CANOEING

The Physical Education Department for Women has started the fair co-eds out on the war canoe train and now under the expert direction of Instructor Peeples, Lake Virginia is the scene of many a pretty stroke.

PHI ALPHA PICNIC

As a pre-holidays entertainment, the Phi Alphas entertained their friends with a picnic at Shafer's Landing on Lake Maitland. One of the large whale boats towed by an evenrude, conveyed the jolly party through Lakes Virginia, Osceola and Maitland to the camping grounds where college songs to the accompaniment of guitar passed the moonlight evening very quickly.

LIEURANCE CONCERT

The first concert fostered by the Student Association was given at the Dyer Memorial Theatre Jan. 14 by the Lieurance organization.

Marion Rickard, ex-23, after having taught two years, is continuing her studies at Western Reserve University.

Emily Lippincott, a special student of last year, has recently returned to Winter Park from the Lippincott home in Maine.

Loretta Salmon, former special student, has returned to Winter Park with her family.

Mrs. Robert S. Pollard, (Elinor Emery, ex-18), is the mother of a charming baby girl, Barbara Emery Pollard. Mr. and Mrs. Pollard are living at 91 Washington Ave., Chatham, N. J.

MRS. ROLLINS

The first Christmas "present" received by the "Alumni Record" comes from a most appropriate source in the form of a substantial donation toward the expense of publication, the donor being Mrs. A. W. Rollins of Washington, D. C., wife of the late founder of the college. Up to the present time neither the advertising nor the subscriptions have brought in sufficient financial backing to balance the expense of publishing the alumni magazine, and this gift therefore is a source of much encouragement to those who are working for the success of the publication. Due to the fact that there has been no connected communication between college and alumni, the majority of former students have lost interest, to a large extent, in their alma mater. It is expected, therefore, that it will take several months in which to awaken sufficient interest among the readers of the "Record" to place the paper on a sound financial basis. But the Record management is determined to make the publication a success and full of potential possibilities for Rollins. With the interested support of friends who see the advantages of this project, there can be no doubt about the successful issue.

COLONIZING CUBA

It would appear from the multiplicity of events transpiring in the Cuban capital because of the Rollins exodus, that there is some concerted plan to colonize Havana and make it "safe for Rollins". First the music lovers of Cuba have an opportunity to enjoy Rollins music as sung by Miss Jean Knowlton, and then during the gay holiday season, the Rollins athletes come forth in mighty combat to furnish amusement for the Christmas excursionists. That Rollins has been well received by the sister republic in a source of much satisfaction and a factor which will undoubtedly have much to do in determining future international athletic contests. That the "Rollins Excursion" proved a splendid holiday celebration for the teams and scores of rooters who accompany them, will set a precedent that will soon become a tradition for the Blue and Gold and add a unique attraction to the Rollins appeal.

Y. M. C. A.

E. J. Mileham, Secretary of the Orlando Y. M. C. A., was the chief speaker at a rousing meeting of the Y. M. C. A. held this month. Plans have been made by the leaders to undertake the management of minor sports for the Tars.

RAY COLADO CAPTAIN OF 1924 FOOTBALL

Ray Colado, diminutive but veteran star of the football squad, was elected to captain the 1924 squad, at a recent meeting of the team. He is one of the most level-headed quarterbacks ever to grace a Rollins gridiron and his ability as a field general has piloted the Tars through many a rough place. He is a member of Phi Alpha.

CECIL DRAA FOOTBALL MANAGER

Cecil Draa, assistant football manager from the junior class, was unanimously elected to manage the 1924 Tars at a recent meeting of the Student Association. Draa has worked hard this past season and enters this new honor fully equipped to discharge the duties involved with credit to his college and to himself. He is a member of Tau Lambda Delta.

JOURNALISM CLASS HEARS JOURNALISTS

Frank Kay Anderson and Karl Lehmann, well-known journalists and men of affairs of Orlando, were special speakers before the class in Journalism this month. They dealt with the practical side of the editorial possibility.

Prof. Lewis Worthington Smith of Drake University, who gave an address in Knowles Hall Sunday evening, Jan. 13.

For a score of years Prof. Smith has been nationally known as one of the keenest literary critics in America. During those years he has himself been a constant contributor to the leading magazines of the day. Fifteen books have come from his pen. His poems have been placed in important anthologies. Occasionally he has consented to speak and whenever he has appeared upon the platform it has been to delight his audiences. Through Irving Bacheller's good offices in bringing Prof. Smith to Winter Park, Rollins students had an opportunity to come in close contact with a literary genius of today.

DR. G. B. CHURCHILL

Dr. George B. Churchill, head of the English Department of Amherst College, spoke in Knowles Hall Jan. 6, under the auspices of the Chapel Association, on "Imagination and Religion." The general aim of the address was an encouragement to thoughtful men away from the prevailing pessimism regarding the present condition of world affairs and civilization, and the personal doubt and uncertainty as to standards of belief and conduct that beset so many.

DYER MEMORIAL BOARD OF CONTROL BEING FORMED

The legal control of the proposed Dyer Memorial Amphitheatre is being made up and a complete announcement of the management is expected at an early date. The plan which is being worked out calls for a board consisting of nine members, three to be appointed by the Florida Federation of Musical Club, three to be appointed by the City Council of Winter Park and three to be appointed by Rollins College. It is expected that one of the three members to be appointed by Rollins College will be a representative of the Alumni Ass'n. This Board is to be given complete control and management of the theatre and will be given a long time lease by the College to the "College Point" where the structure is to be erected. The approximate value of this property is $10,000. At least $10,000 is to be raised by popular subscription to complete the theatre.

TAU LAMBDA DELTA DANCE

Early in the month the Tau Lambda Delta Fraternity entertained their friends with a dance at their house, Interlachen and Fairbanks Avenues. The interior was attractively decorated and the Ft. Pitt Orchestra rendered dance music.

DELPHIC DEBATE

The Sophomores met bitter defeat at the hands of the Freshman Class in the first inter-class debate of the year. It was a spirited affair and closely contested, the argument taking place regarding the occupation of the Ruhr. Ramon Colado, Herbert Mosher and Louis Carroll represented the Sophomores. Helene Lutmann, Thomas Quinn and Hardin Branch spoke for the entering class.

DR. TAINTOR SPEAKS TO Y. W.

Dr. Taintor was the principal speaker for the Y. W. C. A. this month and brought to the girls a helpful message on worth while living.

ANNUAL CHRISTMAS TREE

The annual Christmas tree party was held in Lyman Gymnasium a few nights before the close of college for the holidays. It proved to be very much the same kind of merry celebration that always takes place.

MARCUS FAGG SPEAKS

Marcus Fagg, Florida's foremost social worker, spoke to the student body early in the month on the work being done in the Children's Home at Jacksonville.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Schultz of Winter Park are the parents of three future Rollins Tars, the third little fellow having arrived Sept. 7th, to receive the name of Stanley Arthur Schultz.

The Snow Dodgers

(A story with a moral)

By BURT A. HAZELTINE, Framingham, Mass.

"Hey, Jim, where are you going to college this fall?"

"Oh, gosh, I'm not going anywhere. I'm disgusted with this place and if I ever get my hands on that diploma down at high school, you can bet your boots I'm going to clear out. All these folks talk about is study, study, study. They drag us out when it's ten below zero, with three feet of snow on the ground, and the next day they drag us out when it's forty above and the three feet have become slush, and all to get into Podunk College where I'll have to go through the same thing for another four years. I'm going to pack my little bag and beat it for the Fiji Islands or some other place where I can leave my coat hanging on a hickory bush and forget where I left it, and see if I can get warmed up once in my life."

"Gee, but you've got it bad."

"And you'd have it just as bad if you'd had to stay in this part of the country for eighteen years, too. You have it pretty easy, I'll say. Your dad packs you up and ships you off to Florida every winter for your college, but mine would have a dead faint if I ever suggested such a thing to him. He says it's all he can do to raise the jack to send me to Podunk. Say, do you realize it's going to cost him seven hundred hungry irons a year for me there? Golly, if I ever said Rollins to him, he'd be sending me down to get his will probated. Nope, nothing doing; if I want to get warm it's the Fiji Islands for me, or if I do want college, it's another four years in the frozen districts of this,—brrr,—'charming climate'."

"Say, come down off your high horse. How do you get like that? I'll tell one now; it's my turn. Do you realize that you can get your room, board and tuition at Rollins for something like four hundred of those precious pieces of change your dad is so careful of, that your fare down and back is only about another hundred? Why, you'd be saving your poor downtrodden daddy money to let you go down there, and your other expenses would be no greater there than at Podunk. Put it up to him on a business basis, and don't be a piker. You can get exactly the same work there you can get at Podunk, and, believe me, you'll be in one of the best places the Lord ever picked out for mankind to dwell in. And the profs there are cokers. I've told you about some of them. They just pal right with you and you just can't help learning, you just naturally absorb it. That Lit course I took last year was just the best thing I ever heard, and they have some of the finest lecturers going, for they are wise birds and know what they're doing. They all come South, too. Say, if you can't get that paternal guardian to let you come to a real college, then I'm going to get that credit you've got for debating annulled. You've got everything on your side, and if you want some more dope, just write down and they'll send you some that will make your great grandmother decide to come back and go to college. So brace up, and change your song. There is a place where the sun always shines, and you can bathe in that sun as well as in the waters of good old Lake Virginia all winter long and at the same time you'll get an education that the prexy at Podunk will envy. I'll give you two hours to make up your mind and convince said pater; go to it."

CHRISTMAS VISITORS ON THE CAMPUS

Rollins people who visited the campus during the holidays are as follows: Anne Bellows, '14; Jane Bellows, Florence Stone, '19; Roy Campbell, Ellen Fuller, Helen Way, Douglas Phillips, Parker Henderson, Lillian Lawton, Wilhelmina Freeman, Donald Knowles, Margery Waide Brockway, Rebecca Caldwell, Thomas Caldwell, Mary Whitehead, William Sherman, Gertrude Ford Hudson, Rev. J. H. Fly and Kenneth Sutherland.

Helen Meeker, ex-25, is taking a kindergarten course at Columbia University.

THE GENERAL CURRICULUM

(This page will include from month to month items of interest to and studies in the various majors leading to the A.B. and B.S. degrees, which majors are at present: Economics, English, Chemistry, Education, Biology, Mathematics, Languages and History.)

The English Department has included among its lecturers for the month of January the heads of English departments in three of the foremost institutions of the country—University of Minnesota, Drake University and Amherst College. Dr. Churchill of Amherst, who is one of the most eloquent speakers of the day, and in Port (a copy of which he has recently presented to the Rollins library), The Sky Line in English Literature, A Candle and the Stars, etc.

SIXTEEN BURTON LECTURES

Beginning Jan. 3 and continuing throughout the month of January, Dr. Richard Burton of Minnesota is delivering four lectures a week or a total of sixteen, on the Drama, the Bible, and on Modern Fiction. These lectures are being held in the Woman's Club and are open to the public at 75c per lecture or at $5 for the series of sixteen. The schedule is as follows:

On Mondays at 4:00 p. m., Jan. 7, 14, 21, 28. On Wednesdays at 4:00 p. m., Jan. 9, 16, 23, 30. On Tuesdays at 8:00 p. m., Jan. 8, 15, 22, 29. On Thursdays at 8:00 p. m., Jan. 3, 10, 17, 24, 31.

Dr. Burton is a literary genius and is one of the greatest men of letters in America. After receiving the Ph.D degree at Johns Hopkins he taught Old English at his alma mater, but later took up work as associate editor of Warner's Library of the World's Best Literature. He has been head of the English Department of the University of Minnesota since 1906.

Dr. Burton is author of Literary Likings, Lyrics of Brotherhood, Song of the Unsuccessful, Life of Whittier, Forces in Fiction, Message and Melody, Literary Leaders of America, Rahab—a poetic drama, Three of a Kind, Masters of the English Novel, A Midsummer Memory, the New American Drama, Bernard Shaw—the Man and the Mask, Charles Dickens—How to Know Him, etc.

Dr. Burton returns to Rollins for the third visit. Three years ago he delivered two lectures in Knowles Hall which proved to be among the outstanding features of the extra curricular attractions. Last year under the auspices of the Phi Alpha Fraternity he spoke at the Woman's Club on the appreciation of the Bible and the following evening lectured on modern fiction at the Sorosis Club in Orlando.

RICHARD BURTON, Litt.D.
Eminent Author and Critic, who is giving a series of lectures during the month of January in the Department of English.

who has gained fame as an author, spoke in Knowles Hall January 6.

Prof. Lewis Worthington Smith of Drake University spoke in Knowles Hall Jan. 13 and his lecture was also open to the public. He has for many years contributed to the Independent, Forum, Atlantic, North American Review and has edited Tennyson's The Princess, Irving's Sketch Book, Scott's Lay of the Last Minstrel and Lady of the Lake. He is also the author of many standard books among them being, Ships

Department of Pre-Professional Courses

(This page will include from month to month items of interest to and studies in the two and four-year pre-professional courses in Medicine, Law, Engineering and Theology.)

PREPARATION FOR LAW

The best legal opinion recommends as a preparation for the study of law the broadest cultural education, recognizing that the successful lawyer must be able to look at his problems from every point of view, and that he must know where to go for special information on a large variety of subjects. Technical legal training can best be given in a law school, but the student of law should come to this training with the broadest possible foundation in general knowledge. This is recognized by the requirements now in force in the leading law schools in the United States, which demands for admission a college degree.

Those who are unable to take a full college course before entering law school will find at Rollins the following pre-law course of two years which gives the subjects most essential for a prospective lawyer:

PREPARATION FOR MEDICINE

The principle of some college training as a preparation for Medicine has been established not only by action of the medical schools, but also by statute in many states. A course of two years is regarded by the best medical opinion as only a minimum for admission, and the prospective student of medicine is recommended strongly to take his college degree in the regular four-year course. The following course, offered by Rollins, constitutes the first two years of the regulation medical requirements or suffices as general preparation for those who are unable to complete the four years:

PREPARATION FOR ENGINEERING

A similar recognition of the necessity for broader education as a preparation for the technical study of applied sciences has led to the arrangement of courses in Arts and Science, extending over a period of two or four years, to meet the needs of students who intend to enter engineering schools later. The work of these courses will vary with the tastes of the student, and will in part be determined by the particular school which the student proposes to enter.

A NEW EDUCATIONAL DEVELOPMENT FOR FLORIDA AND FOR THE SOUTH

In a comparatively recent issue of the Florida Times-Union there appeared an editorial on Florida colleges and the opportunities offered in this state for higher education. "Insofar as technical training and professions are concerned," says the Times-Union, "Florida does not offer, on account of her youth, all that could be desired". The older and more highly endowed universities of the South have for years covered this ground. But in liberal arts the Florida colleges have a great field and it is toward such work that their energies have been expended.

But there is far greater reason why Florida has not devoted herself to the professions. This is the day of big business and the thoughts of the present day high school graduate invariably turn toward business as a vocation, the one which will bring to them the greatest material benefits and offer them the largest possibilities for their talents. Indeed it is the demand of the present-day life that every man worthy of the name should have a thorough training in business. What great mistake a large number of high school graduates make by attending two or three years studying engineering or law only finally to drift into business without the most elementary training. Parents are beginning to realize that in order to make their children "safe for life" a business training is just as essential as physical development.

Education in good business administration is one of the greatest needs of the age. The world is demanding today men of general education and culture with training for efficiency in business. These men must have not only knowledge of principles and theory, but training in office practice and methods.

Orlando business men, in developing the resources of Orange County and in adding progress to the work of the City Beautiful, have become interested in the possibilities of the Business Administration Department of Rollins College. The Rotary Club has given a concrete example of this interest by a donation of $1,500 during the past year, for the purchase of additional equipment. This handsome gift has made possible a greater efficiency in this work and is enabling this department to graduate a larger and a better trained class of young men and women, the majority of whom will undoubtedly remain in this vicinity to develop the great industries which have begun in Orange County.

Rollins has adopted a policy and is developing a department for meeting this demand for a highly efficient training in business administration based upon a general collegiate education. Such fundamental subjects as English, economics, mathematics, history and sociology are consistently interwoven with and constitute a background for the technical subjects of law, accounting, insurance, banking, salesmanship, foreign trade and transportation along with counting room practice.

Without belittling the value of a purely literary course in college, there is a new trend in the more progressive institutions of the country to so arrange their courses for young men as to give them a general cultural education and at the same time train them in the principles and practice of the world of business. The result of such a combination course has been so gratifying to the business interests and so satisfactory to those who have received the training that business administration courses have become, by far, the most popular in the great colleges and universities which have had the foresight to establish them. Dartmouth, for instance, has made such strides in her work that she has been unable for some time to accommodate the thousands who apply for entrance. Boston University, on a day basis, trains larger numbers. The Wharton School of Finance of the University of Pennsylvania, New York University and the University of Wisconsin are fine examples of this new education.

MISS JESSE PEDRICK

Promising young pianist of New York, who gave a recital in Knowles Hall, Dec. 18. She is a graduate of the Rollins Conservatory, having been a pupil of Marion Rous. Miss Pedrick was warmly received in her initial concert here and was also the honor guest at a reception given on Dec. 20 by another Rollins girl, Mrs. H. H. Hogan (Alberta Arnold), at her attractive home in Orlando.

The Conservatory of Music

(This page will include from month to month items of interest to and studies in the majors leading to the Bachelor of Music degree.)

JEAN KNOWLTON

Head of the Voice Department, who has just returned from Havana, where she appeared in a costume recital.

MUSICAL ATTRACTIONS ON ORLANDO CALENDAR

For the information of those alumni residing in motoring distance of Orlando, the following list of musical events of the present season are listed. They have been scheduled at the High School Auditorium:

- Jan. 28—Sura Cherkassy, Pianist.
- Feb. 6—Flonzaley String Quartet.
- Feb. 27—Mischa Elman, Violinist.
- Mar. 12—Ukranian Chorus.
- Mar. 17—Rosa Poncelle, Soprano.

PEDRICK CONCERT DEC. 18

Music loving Orlando, Winter Park and vicinity turned toward Knowles Hall on the evening of Dec. 18 to hear a product of the Rollins Conservatory, Miss Jesse Pedrick, in her initial piano recital. And her artistic and finished rendition of a well balanced program gave those who were assembled just cause for pride in the success of this young artist.

Miss Pedrick, who is an Orlando girl, started on her road to musical success under the tutelage of another Rollins girl, Miss Florida Howard of Orlando. Later, as a pupil of Marion Rous, head of the Piano Department at that time, Miss Pedrick forged ahead in her chosen profession and after having completed the course prescribed by the late Susan Hart Dyer, accompanied Miss Dyer and Miss Rous to New York to study under that great master Ernest Hutcheson. Miss Pedrick's arrival in New York marked another milestone along the pathway to success. The Juilliard Foundation, one of the most important musical institutions in the East, yielded to what Miss Pedrick's friends have come to look upon as her magic touch, and awarded her the highest scholarship at its disposal. For the first time in the history of the Juilliard Foundation the prize was won for a second time the following year by this Rollins girl. In addition to her studies, Miss Pedrick has found time to assist Miss Rous in the musical classes of the Greenwich Village Music School of which the late Susan Hart Dyer was Director.

JEAN KNOWLTON MAKES SUCCESSFUL APPEARANCE IN HAVANA, CUBA

Jean Knowlton, head of the Voice Department, filled a successful engagement in Havana, Cuba, on Dec. 10, commenting on which the Havana Post says: "Miss Jean Knowlton, who appeared in a costume recital at the Conservatory under the auspices of the Woman's Club, won the admiration of her audience. From the moment she stepped on the stage in her quaint mid-Victorian costume to the final number, in which she appeared as a charming senorita, glowing tributes were paid her for the excellent rendition of her varied program. Her opening number was a group of French songs, in which the silvery tones of her well-trained voice were delightful to hear. Among modern English songs, Alice Barnett's beautiful 'Nightingale Lane' was sung in a manner that won a tremendous ovation."

The Games in Cuba

The 1923 football season came to a close on foreign soil on Dec. 30, when the Tars battled the strong Athletic club of Havana after having met the Municipal and University elevens, all within one week. That Rollins was able to run up 136 points in those three games does not, of course, throw any magnificent bouquets to Cuban football. But in all fairness to them it must be conceded that the University of Havana warriors have improved fully fifty per cent over last year.

This year's game was the third international contest staged with the Cuban University and the Rollins officials hope that it will be the beginning of an annual holiday game in Havana.

 Rollins 35—St. Petersburg City Team 24.
 Rollins 29—Southern College 31.
 Points won, 176—Points lost, 191.

The Cuban Games

The basketball season started during the holidays on foreign soil, the first opponent being the "Tigers" of the University of Havana who proved to be much more expert in the intricacies of the cage game than in the gridiron realm. Two games were played in the Cuban capital, giving the Cubans a total of 95 points won as against 35 for the Americans, which demonstrates rather conclusively that the Tars discovered worthy opponents. The University of Havana has enjoyed for many years, an enviable reputation in basketball and baseball and the the present season has started in a most favorable way for the Tigers.

The Orlando Dragoons

In a game featured by fouls the Rollins quintet defeated the Dragoons, an independent team of Orlando, in the first game in Lyman Gymnasium this season, by 37-24. The game was played on Jan. 8. R. Colado, captain, and Thomas were the high point scorers, each dropping 16 points. The game showed an improvement in team work and the result of consistent practice.

First Game With Southern

On Jan. 10 the Tars met the Southern College quintet in Lakeland, losing 40-17 in what was reported to be a rough contest. R. Colado proved the mainstay of the Tars by copping 13 of the points won. Gillispie and Monetta for Southern proved the outstanding players.

St. Petersburg City Team Game

On January 11 the Tars journeyed down stateward and met the city team of St. Petersburg that evening in the high school auditorium. The city team going into the game with hardly any previous work together made a creditable showing against the faster college team. The ball was in the hands of the Tars most of the time. R. Colado and Thomas again proved stellar lights for the Tars.

Second Game With Southern

The second game with Southern College, played in Wintef Park Jan. 17, was anything but a walk-away for the Methodists. Despite the scintillating performance of Gillespie for the Blue and White, the Blue and Gold Tars kept the large crowd on the anxious seat throughout the game. Rollins was particularly effective in the last half of the game. The final score was 31-29 in favor of Southern.

IRVING BACHELLER, LITT. D.

Distinguished Floridian and trustee of Rollins College, who is extending the Rollins influence to the high schools of this state by offering gold medals to winners of the annual essay contest held during Founders' Week. Mr. Bacheller is tremendously interested in young people and has given to America, in his latest book, "The Scudders," a keen satire on the follies of fashionable life, the fads and excesses of the young people of the day. Mr. Bacheller is also rendering a great service to Rollins students by bringing to the chapel on Sunday evenings, eminent men with inspirational messages.

DEPARTMENT STUDIES

Acting on the suggestion that alumni as a whole are not sufficiently familiar with the specific courses offered by Rollins, it is now planned to include each month a series of studies in the curriculum and it is hoped that those interested will send in discussions which will assist in clarifying the situation. In a small college such as Rollins the scope must necessarily be limited, but there are great advantages to be offered in a limited scope and if the alumni are kept informed regarding these special advantages it will result in a betterment of conditions.

MARGARET ROGERS WRITES

OF JAPANESE DISASTER

The following excerpt from a letter written to a friend here by Miss Margaret Rogers, ex-18, telling of conditions in Japan following the recent earthquake will no doubt be of interest to readers of the Record. Miss Rogers has been connected with one of the mission schools in Yokohama for several years. "It has been simply wonderful", writes Miss Rogers, "to have any part in this frightful thing and to have been in the midst of the tremendous flow of love and sympathy that pervaded everything. It simply bore one up to see and feel the great expression of true brotherly love that exists between all classes and races and conditions of men. To be entirely cut off from the place where loved ones are dying, are burning to death, or are starving, is simply frightful. To know nothing about them, to have no news for six days except that 'there is no Yokohama', and such wild tales; to be able to do nothing but wait and pray and control one's feeling, is the hardest thing I ever went through,—far worse than losing one's school, home and almost every earthly possession, which is what happened to us.

"None of our teachers or Bible workers were killed,—only one teacher slightly hurt. Only one child attending the school was killed, and eight of the graduates of 50 years as far as we know. So we have a great deal to be thankful for, although all of our buildings, except one, are a mass of bricks and twisted pipes. The Bible school chapel miraculously escaped and is being repaired for services.

Doris Frank, ex-23, is a student in Akron University.

Vera McGinnis, ex-24, is Mrs. B. Garner of Avon Park, Fla.

Leslie Hanawalt, ex-21, is an English instructor in Oberlin College and lives in West Lorain Street.

ROLLINS ALUMNI

WOULD you like to know the honest facts about your alma mater? Assuming that you do, we plan to give them to you in a series of brief monthly statements on which you can rely for a knowledge of the truth.

In the December number of the Record the Investments of the Endowment Fund Assets were explained. It may now be of interest to consider the assets of the College not included in the Endowment Fund.

Property Assets—Under this item come the various buildings of the campus, which are:

Name	Construction	Cost
Carnegie Hall.....	Brick	$19,947.55
Cloverleaf.....	Frame	15,672.44
Commons.....	Frame	7,869.26
Knowles Hall.....	Brick	36,528.05
Lakeside.....	Frame	8,367.50
Pinehurst.....	Frame	8,592.69
Lyman Gymnasium.....	Frame	5,030.67
Power House.....	Brick	2,278.74
Art Studio.....	Frame	855.67
Boathouse and seawall.....	Frame and cement	2,982.03
Electrical Fixtures for above buildings.....		535.00
Total.....		$108,659.60

The second item of "Grounds, $21,695.00" is the campus, approximately twenty-five acres on Lake Virginia.

The third item of "Real Estate, $16,218.10" covers property donated to the college for general purposes.

The fourth item of "Books, Equipment, Furniture, etc., $52,220.63", is self-explanatory.

Under "Current Assets" are two items: (a) $3,857.05, net amount of obligations, both subscriptions and student notes, which are considered of value; and (b) $2,666.25 for materials, supplies, unexpired insurance, etc.

These miscellaneous assets, $198,793.33, $3,857.05 and $2,666.25, added to the Endowment Fund Assets of $445,914.16, make a total of $651,230.79.

The minimum property and miscellaneous assets for a college the size of Rollins should be $500,000.00.
